2. DAYALBAGH AGRICULTURAL TRAINING INSTITUTE(R) {DATI}.

DATI was a unit of The Capuchin Krishik Seva Kendra registered under Karnataka Societies Registration Act 1960. It was started in the year 1980. It is affiliated to the Department of Training and Employment in the State of Karnataka, under National Apprenticeship Training Scheme, Government of India.

DATI is premier institute in training in agriculture and horticulture exclusively for the rural poor youth with small land hording in order to improve their own land so that they may get enough income to earn their livelihood. Due to illiteracy and ignorance, large numbers of Indian farmers depend on traditional method of cultivation. The illiteracy and traditional beliefs and attitude towards production are an obstacle in the adoption of new farming techniques. Even today, a large number of farmers in our country use wooden ploughs and bullocks. In addition, there is widespread ignorance about the use of modern inputs and techniques such as multiple cropping.

Since 80% of the total population in India is working in agricultural sector, D.A.T.I has a wider scope and an important role to play in the life of youth who are interested in agricultural sector. Training the young and enterprising underprivileged village students is the principal aim of DATI. We recruit and train both young boys and girls without cast, creed, and gender discrimination. These students we recruit from rural villages. We provide them free educational training, board and lodge.

This year thirteen students are benefiting from this course. Following programs, we cover every year under this course.

TRAINING IN HORTICULTURE:

D.A.T.I as an Institution which covers wide programs every year for the trainees, consisting of both theory and practical in gardening, horticulture, agriculture, nursery, vermin in culture, rubber plantation, management of garden, management of nursery etc. The students are found to be cooperative. The students spend two hours in the classroom for theory and two hours in the garden for practical. Every weekend they present a report of their practical knowledge to the tutor.

We had following programs conducted this year.

1. Theory classes in horticulture.
2. Practical classes in rubber nursery, vegetable garden, horticulture, coconut and areca nut garden.
3. N.I.O.S. classes in history and economics
4. Training program in organic farming by Mr. Dabbanna from agricultural department, Belthangady.
5. Students attended the program on Krishi Mela at Bajagoli on 6-2-2011.

6. Students paid field visits to Miranda farms, - Naravi, Soans farms at Moodbidri, and regional research station at Brahmavar.
7. Awareness programme on the use of plastic – street play at Mundaje College, Belthangady, Gurudev college, Belthangady, Santhekatte college at Belthangady and first grade College Melantha Bettu.

COCONUT FARM:

At present, we have 695 yielding trees and 230 non-yielding. Due to good rains and hard labor of our students, the coconut yield is better, but the monkeys destroy the yield. The price was reasonably good towards the end of the financial year. This year we received Rs. 1, 50 980/- from the sale of coconuts.

ARECA NUTS:

We have approximately 6,000 trees and 1,600 non-yielding. Areca trees are taken good care this year watering them regularly. Entire garden has an irrigation facility now. We received Rs. 8,57,286 from sale of areca nuts.

PADDY CULTIVATION:

This year, we cultivated two paddy crops. Compared to the previous years, the yield was good but the heavy rains caused problems during harvesting. Some of the fields are used for growing grass for the cows because hey price has increased much. This year we got 30-quintal rice.

VEGETABLES:

We found that this soil is good for cultivating vegetables. We cultivated cucumbers, brinjals, beans, spinnage, pumpkins, lady fingers, amaranths, curry cucumbers, tapioca etc. The excess vegetables we sold for normal price.

RUBBER PLANTATION:

It is proved that at present the rubber is the best income generating source and more profitable than any other crops and cash crops. We have about 3,500 rubber plants in all, among which 1,100 are yielding and another 600 will be ready soon, and the rest will be ready after 4 years. The price went up to Rs. 240 per kilo. We also faced tappers problem this year. The family left with short notice and the next tapper was not a steady man. He too left soon. Altogether, we have been able to market a sum of Rs.7,51,494/- worth rubber during the financial year 2010-2011. We have another 500 rubber saplings for plantation this year.

CASH CROPS:

Our farm also includes the cash crops like cashew, pepper, mango, jackfruits and banana. Cashew yield was rather satisfactory but good many trees died due to sickness. We sold 120 kilo cashew nuts at the rate of Rs. 68/-. The pepper plants are dying due to sickness. We collected 55 kilo pepper and sold 38 kilo at the rate of Rs. 200/-. Mango yield was better but untimely rains destroyed the yield. We have planted more than hundred banana trees this year.

DAIRY:

Present we have 39 cows and out of which 20 are milking and rest are calves. All the cows are healthy. After keeping for our requirements, we get an average 80 liters of milk for sale each day. The milk is given to the Society. The society gives us the rate depending upon the fat contains in a liter. The cost of the cattle feed rise every day. Dairy is not a loss, since we get gobar gas for our use and manure for our garden.

PIGGERY:

We had 18 pigs in the current year and 16 piglets. Out of which 3 pigs were slaughtered and we sold 15 piglets at the rate of 1800/- per piglet. At present, we have 16 bigger ones and 9 younger ones altogether numbering 25. We earned Rs. 41,000 from piggery.

GOAT REARING:

Goat rearing is one of the activities of this institution to raise income of the house. It is one of the easiest occupations with low investment. Right now, we have twenty-five goats.

COMPUTER TRAINING:

In this competing world of technology and computers, our students are found to cope up with the situation to compete with the world to as to earn their livelihood. The course of DTP has brought smile on their desperate faces.

LABOURERS:

We have 13 regular laborers among whom 6 are residents in our campus. A canteen is put up to cater for the students. One worker is fully engaged for this purpose.

Improvements:

In the part of improvement side one can observe that our entire farm looks better. It is mainly because of the better irrigation system and the manuring. In order to get a better result all round improvement has been sought. The efforts have been made to utilize more river water so that the water in our wells and in the lake is spared for the time of greater necessity. In the recent years, the new pipelines have been installed, and the provision has been made for 150 sprinklers.

Conclusion:

In conclusion, as we went through the report of 2010-2011 there has been a lot and marvelous works has been undertaken by the CKSK. For all this, nothing but we say a big thank you.

We are grateful to all our staff members, President and members of CKSK society. Society gratefully acknowledges the support of MSJE through grant and guidance for the work at Asha Kiran. Society is grateful to all benefactors, well-wishers, sponsors, who generously support the work of Asha Kiran Integrated Rehabilitation Centre for Addicts. Project with the support of Child Fund India, TDSS, Government departments, Local NGOs, youth clubs and the community people has achieved a lot in reaching out the most vulnerable sections of the society. Today the Organization is sincerely indebted to the support given by these above agencies. As a result, today hope and confidence is ignited in these people's life and certainly, one day they will reach that goal which they aim now. We are grateful to the society, donors, staff, Dati students and the beneficiaries for wholehearted support.
